

Towards Sustainable Mining (TSM) Verification Workshop Now Available

Friday, February 17, 2012 -- The Mining Association of Canada (MAC) is pleased to announce that the Towards Sustainable Mining (TSM) Verification Workshop is now available in an eLearning format. Vubiz is proud to have developed these courses with MAC and to serve as their eLearning provider. This online program consists of eight courses that will prepare participants to consistently complete a verification of the performance levels assessed by MAC member companies using the TSM protocols and will understand the scope of work and requirements for verification service providers.

Towards Sustainable Mining Learning Objectives:

Upon completion of the online training program, participants will:

- Understand the TSM initiative, including its origins, objectives, structure, and components.
- Understand the structure and content of the TSM assessment protocols and the self-assessment process.
- Understand the TSM verification service provider requirements and the scope of work of a TSM verification.
- Be able to verify the TSM self-assessment results based on the TSM protocols.
- Be able to address some of the common issues or challenges encountered during the verification process.

The introductory course is available for free to all participants. Click here to register.
